

The communication project and exhibition „Betakontext“ mainly focuses on the state of a „beta version“ and its relationship to a final stage. Phenomenon and point of the „preliminary“ shall be assimilated, stepped into and expressed: in theory and various artistical expression. In rotation artists, scientists, writers and musicians from Germany, the Czech Republic and Austria fill the former petrol station with their conceptions. A recursive loop comes into effect, in which the exhibition opens to the participation of the audience, in which this typing already has its place.
